

GOINGS ON

JACK FREIFELDER / CHINA DAILY

SURVIVOR STORIES

Kevin Wang, an 18-year-old senior at Poly Prep Country Day School in Brooklyn, New York, gives opening remarks on Monday for the launch of the 5 Colours Foundation's art exhibit at the United Nations. The event, which runs from Nov 3-7, showcases artwork from a number of survivors of the Sichuan Earthquake of 2008.

JACK FREIFELDER / CHINA DAILY

ARTISTIC DISPLAY
Li Dan, a 24-year-old former student of the 5 Colours Foundation, speaks to guests Monday during the opening event of the group's exhibit at the United Nations. Li, who lost her right arm in the Sichuan earthquake of 2008, is one of several young artists whose work is being displayed through the end of the week at the UN.

THINK AGAIN

Inside-Outside, a group exhibition with paintings by Chen Yujun, Lu Zhengyuan, Huang Yishan and Tang Yongxiang, is on display at Klein Sun Gallery in New York now through January 2015. Through cutting-edge paintings, the show encourages viewers to re-evaluate their first assessments and examine the ways in which objects linger in one's mind.

PROVIDED TO CHINA DAILY

AMY HE / CHINA DAILY

ADDING IT UP

Calvin Chan, chief operating officer of digital data firm AdMaster, speaks at a workshop on how to use data collection for the Chinese market. The workshop was held Wednesday at the Javits Center in New York as part of the ad:tech digital conference.